Pastel

Pastel for Marketing teams

Update copy on this page

Have a look.

Managing the marketing pages for your company is no easy task. Everyone is trying to get their message across and each page has multiple stakeholders that want to give their input. There are many things that can get in the way of a successful launch, but getting feedback from your team shouldn't be one of them.

Limiting back-and-forth and enabling your team to give clear and actionable feedback will allow you to build websites that convert better, in less time. This is where Pastel comes in!

Before Pastel

After Pastel

Why Pastel is the most powerful choice for marketing teams

Give visual feedback directly on websites. With any device on any browser.

Create a canvas out of any website and get your point across in seconds.

Comment in real-time and get on the same page as your team.

Automatically create tickets and tasks into other tools

Invite clients to comment with a link. No account or installations needed.

Try Pastel for free today